What is APA Style?

The American Psychological Association (APA) citation style is the most commonly used format for manuscripts in the social sciences.

APA regulates:

- Stylistics
- In-text citations
- References

Language in an APA paper should be:

- Clear: be specific in descriptions and explanations
- Concise: condense information when you can
- Plain: use simple, descriptive adjectives and minimize figurative language

The Literature Review:

- Summarizes scientific literature on a particular research topic
- Includes:
 - a title page,
 - introduction, and
 - a list of references

For this paper be sure to:

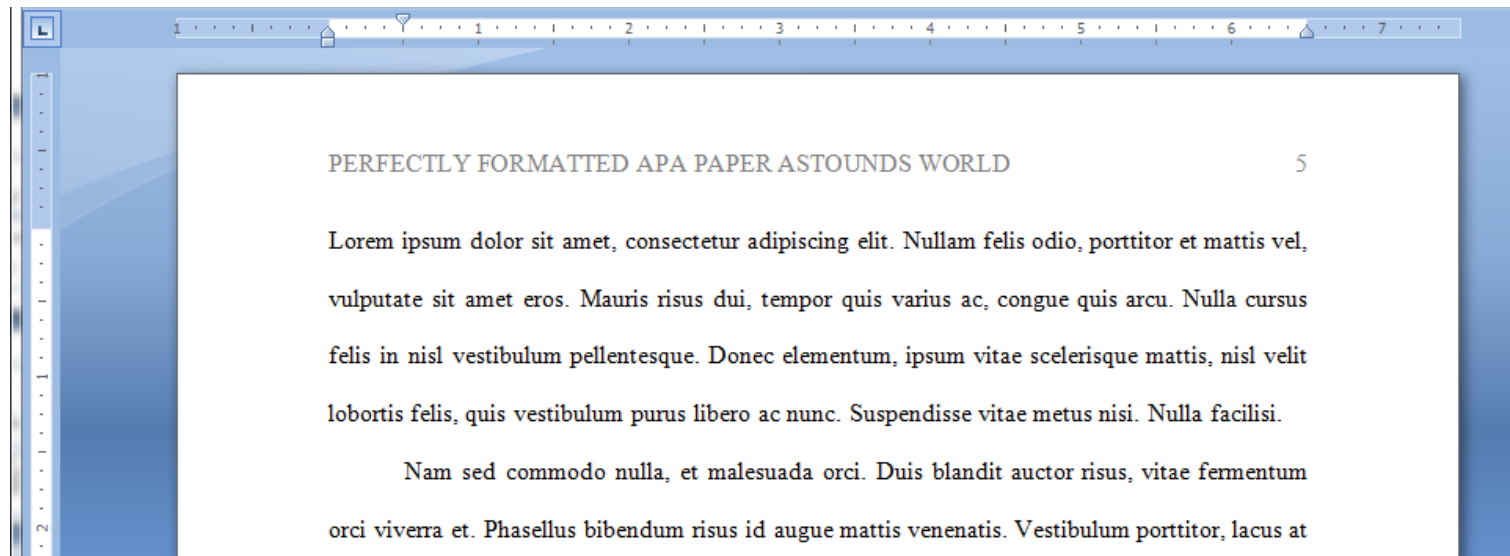

- Follow the general format
- Consult the teacher
- Consult the APA Publication Manual

Your essay should:

- be typed,
- double-spaced,
- have 1" margins,
- use 10-12pt. Standard font (ex. Times New Roman), and
- be printed on standard-sized paper (8.5"x 11")
- single space after paragraph

Every page of your essay should:

- Include a page header (Title, all caps) in the upper left-hand corner and
- the page number in the upper right

Your essay should include three major sections:

Title page

Main Body

References

Page header:
(use Insert Page Header)
title flush left + page
number flush right.

Title: (in the upper half of the page, centered)

- Number the first text page as page number 2
- Type and center the title of the paper at the top of the page
- Type the text double-spaced with all sections following each other without a break
- Identify the sources you use in the paper in parenthetical, in-text citations

- Center the title (References) at the top of the page. Do not bold it.
- Double-space reference entries
- Flush left the first line of the entry and indent subsequent lines (hanging indent)
- Order entries alphabetically by the surname of the first author of each work

- Invert authors' names (last name first followed by initials)
 - EX: "Smith, J.Q."
- Capitalize only the first letter of the first word of a title and subtitle, the first word after a colon or a dash in the title, and proper nouns. Do not capitalize the first letter of the second word in a hyphenated compound word.

APA is a complex system of citation. When compiling the reference list, the strategy below might be useful:

1. Identify the type of source:

Is it a book? A journal article? A webpage?

2. Find a sample citation for this type of source

Check a textbook or the OWL APA Guide:

<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>

3. “Mirror” the sample

4. Make sure that the entries are listed in alphabetical order and that the subsequent lines are indented (Recall References: Basics)

In-text citations help readers locate the cited source in the References section of the paper.

Whenever you use a source, provide in parenthesis:

- the author's name and the date of publication
- for quotations and close paraphrases, provide the author's name, date of publication, and a page number orci viverra et. Phasellus bibendum risus id augue mattis venenatis (Lahiri, 2002). Vestibulum porttitor, "lacus at malesuada pulvinar, sem libero placerat lacus, malesuada gravida dui sem id leo" (Lahiri, 2002, p. 501). Duis volutpat risus est, vitae pulvinar quam iaculis eu. Maecenas sit

In-Text Citation: Quotations

When quoting:

- Introduce the quotation with a signal phrase
- Include the author's name, year of publication, and page number
- Keep the citation brief—do not repeat the information

Caruth (1996) has stated that a traumatic response frequently entails a “delayed, uncontrolled repetitive appearance of hallucinations and other intrusive phenomena” (p.11).

A traumatic response frequently entails a “delayed, uncontrolled repetitive appearance of hallucinations and other intrusive phenomena” (Caruth, 1996, p.11).

In-Text Citation:
Summary or Paraphrase

Provide the author's last name and the year of publication in parenthesis after a summary or a paraphrase.

Though feminist studies focus solely on women's experiences, they err by collectively perpetuating the masculine-centered impressions (Fussell, 1975).

In-Text Citation:
Summary or Paraphrase

Include the author's name in the signal phrase, followed by the year of publication in parenthesis.

Recently, the history of warfare has been significantly revised by Higonnet et al. (1987),

Marcus (1989), and Raitt and Tate (1997) to include women's personal and cultural responses to battle and its resultant traumatic effects.

When including the quotation in a summary/paraphrase, also provide a page number in parenthesis after the quotation:

According to feminist researchers Raitt and Tate
(1997), "It is no longer true to claim that women's responses to the war have been ignored" (p. 2).

Introduce quotations with signal phrases, e.g.:

According to Xavier (2008), “....” (p. 3).

Xavier (2008) argued that “.....” (p. 3).

Use such signal verbs such as:

acknowledged, contended, maintained,
responded, reported, argued, concluded, etc.

Use the past tense or the present perfect tense of verbs in signal phrases when they discuss past events.

In-Text Citation: Two or More Works

When the parenthetical citation includes two or more works, order them in the same way they appear in the reference list—the author's name, the year of publication—separated by a semicolon.

lobortis felis, quis vestibulum purus libero ac nunc. Suspendisse vitae metus (Kachru, 2005; Smith, 2008).

In-Text Citation:
Works with Two Authors

When citing a work with two authors, use
In the signal phrase, use “and” in between the authors’ names

According to feminist researchers Raitt and Tate
(1997), “It is no longer true to claim that women’s responses to the war have been ignored” (p. 2).

In parenthesis, use “&” between names

Some feminists researchers question that “women’s responses to the war have been ignored” (Raitt & Tate, 1997, p. 2).

In-Text Citation:
Works with 3-5 Authors

When citing a work with three to five authors, identify all authors in the signal phrase or in parenthesis.

(Harklau, Siegal, & Losey, 1999)

In subsequent citations, only use the first author's last name followed by "et al." in the signal phrase or in parentheses.

(Harklau et al., 1993)

In-Text Citation:
Works with 6+ Authors

When citing a work with six and more authors, identify the first author's name followed by "et al."

Smith et al. (2006) maintained that....

(Smith et al., 2006)

In-Text Citation:
Unknown Author

When citing a work of unknown author:

- use the source's full title in the signal phrase
- cite the first word of the title followed by the year of publication in parenthesis.

In-Text Citation:

Same Last Name/ Author

When citing authors with the same last names, use first initials with the last names.

(B. Kachru, 2005; Y. Kachru, 2008)

When citing two or more works by the same author and published in the same year, use lower-case letters (a, b, c) after the year of publication to order the references.
